AECOM awarded US$12-million design-build contract to upgrade North Road in Qatar

LOS ANGELES (June 5, 2012) — AECOM Technology Corporation (NYSE: ACM), a leading provider of professional technical and management support services for public and private clients in more than 130 countries around the world, announced today that it has been selected as the designer for a design-build contract to upgrade North Road in Qatar as part of the wider Qatar Expressway program.

The program will see the creation of 342 miles of new expressway and service roads as part of a US$20-billion investment to improve the road network and enhance the country's growing economy. AECOM will work on the 61-mile North Road, which connects the capital city of Doha with Madinat Al Shamal/AI Ruwais on the north coast.

As part of the two-year project, the AECOM team will enhance the accessibility of the road to reduce travel time between the two cities and improve the performance of the road by adding frontage streets and new interchanges as well as upgrading existing interchanges. The team is also designing the longest bicycle lane along the road as well as creating context-sensitive artscape and beautification works.

"We are delighted to play a vital role in the advancement of Qatar's infrastructure," said AECOM Chairman and Chief Executive Officer John M. Dionisio. "We at AECOM understand the importance of a world-class infrastructure network to the evolution of Qatar."

Work on the project is set to begin immediately, with construction scheduled for completion during 2014.
