

AECOM ranked No. 1 global design firm by Engineering News-Record magazine

August 10, 2010

LOS ANGELES, Aug 10, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

AECOM Technology Corporation (NYSE: ACM), a leading provider of professional technical and management support services for government and commercial clients around the world, announced today that it is ranked as the No. 1 global design firm by Engineering News-Record (ENR) magazine, a McGraw-Hill publication that released its annual list of the top 150 global design firms in the July 26 issue.

The survey ranks the largest engineering, architectural and environmental design firms according to their revenue in those areas. ENR is widely considered to be the industry's preeminent trade publication. In addition to its No. 1 ranking on the global 150 list, AECOM continued its annual strong showing in ENR's market segment listings, ranking No. 1 globally in Transportation and Water and No. 2 in Building, Sewer/Waste and Hazardous Waste.

"We are proud to be recognized as the top design firm in the world by ENR," said John M. Dionisio, AECOM president and chief executive officer. "AECOM's continued success reflects our commitment to be the best at what we do globally - and to serving the best interests of our clients around the world."
