

AECOM Acquires Economics Research Associates

November 21, 2007

Economic analysis firm bolsters AECOM's portfolio of global offerings

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Nov. 21, 2007--AECOM Technology Corporation (NYSE: ACM), a leading provider of professional technical and management support services for government and commercial clients around the world, announced today that it has acquired Economics Research Associates (ERA), an international consulting firm concentrating on economic analysis for clients in entertainment, real estate, public facilities, tourism, and economic development.

By adding ERA, AECOM has continued to build out its services offerings, further strengthening the broad portfolio of services it can deliver to its global client base.

"ERA is held in high regard in all of the industries in which it operates," said John M. Dionisio, AECOM president and chief executive officer. "By welcoming ERA aboard, we are broadening our platform of economic services, and we are well positioned to further develop our economic research and planning practice area."

Patrick Phillips, president of ERA, added, "Joining AECOM provides us with an exciting new platform for international expansion, for increasing the breadth of our clients and services, and for the professional development of our staff."
