1,100-employee engineering firm expands AECOM's energy practice, strengthens global portfolio of services, extends presence globally

LOS ANGELES, Mar 03, 2008 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- AECOM Technology Corporation (NYSE: ACM), a leading provider of professional technical and management support services for government and commercial clients around the world, announced today that it has completed its acquisition of Tecsult, Inc., an international engineering firm based in Montreal, Quebec, Canada, that serves clients in a variety of markets, including energy, transportation, facilities and environmental.

Tecsult is an important addition to AECOM, as it aligns with three core areas of AECOM's growth strategy. Tecsult's hydropower expertise - a primary strength of the 1,100-employee firm - bolsters AECOM's energy practice, particularly as the world focuses on viable areas of alternative sources for energy. Tecsult is becoming an integral part of AECOM's international development group, assisting developing nations of the world in attaining their basic infrastructure needs such as water, energy and transportation. Additionally, Tecsult further strengthens AECOM's global infrastructure practice, especially within the Canadian infrastructure market.
