Work includes design and project management for roads, storm water drainage and other infrastructure projects

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar. 18, 2009-- AECOM Technology Corporation (NYSE: ACM), a leading provider of professional technical and management support services for government and commercial clients around the world, announced today that it has recently been awarded five contracts in the Middle East that will have the company provide a mix of design and project-management services.

Three of the contracts are for work in the Al Ain Municipality of Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates. They include two three-year contracts for infrastructure work, including roads, drainage and sewerage systems, and one three-year program undertaking storm water drainage work in an isolated area of the municipality.

AECOM was also selected for two contracts in Qatar. This includes urban design, as well as infrastructure and design development, of the central parks and amenity zones for a new residential and commercial area in Doha's Barwa City. It also includes a transportation project in Barwa Village, a new development between Doha City and Wakra Town.

"These infrastructure wins highlight AECOM's diversified global business model – from a geographic as well as an end-market standpoint," said John M. Dionisio, AECOM president and chief executive officer. "AECOM is well positioned to participate in the continued emphasis on necessary infrastructure investment that is occurring in the Middle East."
